Attendee: Consumer Electronics Trade Show, Las Vegas, 2016

Attended the world's largest consumer electronics trade show. The event, according to reports, featured 3,600 exhibitors showing off their latest products and services to more than 150,000 attendees. The annual event is known worldwide for introducing new state-of-the-art products. During the convention, I had the opportunity to learn about emerging technologies and new platforms which merge technology and news production. I attended panels and workshops on topics ranging from the merging of technologies for Netflix, and Twitter, to 360 video and news /media innovations.
